SAUNDERS DIES

In the death of John R. Saunders, Virginia loses one of its most lovable characters. Perhaps no man in the state had a wider circle of friends, and for 16 years he served the state as its attorney general. He was a Virginia gentleman of the old school, likable and sincere to the core.

BRIDLED VOTES

The Times Virginian has no brief for those Congressmen who have failed to support the New Deal in their congressional voting. Taken as a whole the New Deal policies of the administration have been for the best interest of the nation.

But we do not look with favor upon an announcement by Speaker Rainey of the House that he is preparing a list of those who have "voted wrong." The "list" would be for publicity or patronage purposes, we are led to believe.

Congressional votes are bridled enough as it is by powerful lobbies, without further threats to those few left who vote their convictions.

FINISH THE PROJECTS

Many localities are taking over the building of CWA in finishing projects started. Now can the localities afford to pay for finishing the job? If CWA is to be expanded April 1, then get enough men on the job to finish what has been started.

To plant or not to plant, that's the problem of March. One never just what the weather man is going to do. It may be snow or spring. The weather is a game of hide and seek. Folks who like things that run to form should be playing in this March.

DIZZINESS
relieved by Black-Draught

"I decided to take the Black-Draught, as I had been having dizzy spells," writes Mrs. Charles E. Stevens of Columbus, Ind. "When I got through I felt better and I do not feel like I am dropping off to sleep every time I sit down. That to me, is a very big feeling."

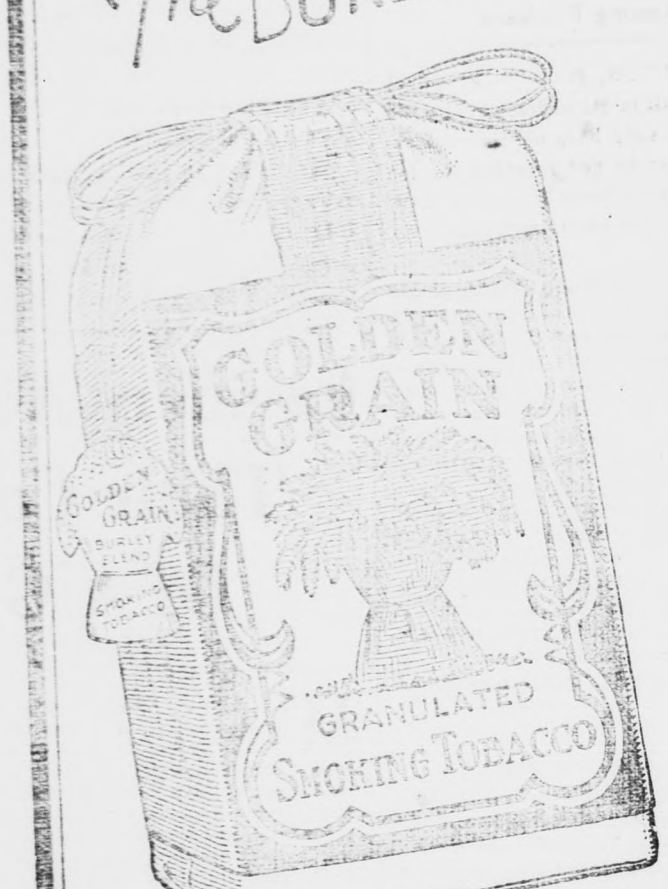

Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a tablet, for children.

Relieves Women's Pains

Here is an example of how Cardui has helped thousands of women: "I was very thin and pale," writes Mrs. F. H. Scott of Roanoke, Va. "I suffered from weakness and a severe pain in my back. This pain unimproved me, and I did not feel like doing my work. I did not care to go to places, and felt worn, tired, day after day."

"My mother had taken Cardui, and on seeing my condition she advised me to try it. I have never regretted doing so. I took three bottles and I built me up. I gained in weight, my color was better and the pain left my back. I am stronger than I had been in some time."

Cardui, the purely vegetable medicine which so many women take and recommend, is sold by local druggists.

Sun Fires Tar Barrel, Blast Maim Worker

Mississippi, Minn.—Thrown skyward when a tar barrel on which he was standing exploded in a freak blast, Clifford Palm, employee of a sheet metal company, suffered two broken legs.

Palm was standing on the barrel in order to reach a weld spot, working with a torch. The barrel, empty of tar except for that clinging to its sides, stood in the sun. The heat of the sun created fumes and gases filled the barrel.

A spark from the welding torch probably ignited the gases, which caused the explosion.
